about DOCKSIDE TREATS CO.

Owned and operated by Marder Seafood, we've always been dedicated to quality and sustainability. For decades, we've brought premium seafood to tables around the world. But one day, standing on the docks, we noticed something: parts of our exceptional catch were going to waste—not because they weren't high quality, but because they didn't fit traditional seafood markets.

That realization sparked an idea: what if these premium pieces could serve a different purpose? What if, instead of being discarded, they could be transformed into something meaningful? That's when the seed for Dockside Treats Co. was planted.

We set out to craft high-quality, natural pet treats made from sustainably sourced seafood. These treats weren't just about utilizing what might otherwise go unused—they were about celebrating the full bounty of the ocean and extending our commitment to sustainability to our furry companions.

At Dockside Treats Co., we believe in making the most of what the sea has to offer while caring for the planet and our pets. Today, every bite is a reflection of that mission—a treat your pet will love, made with the same dedication and care we bring to every piece of seafood we harvest.
